Court Told of Trouble at Central High

By SY RAMSEY

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Swift, strong discipline against ring leaders of segregation would have made the first year of integration much smoother at Central High School, Vice Principal J. L. Powell testified today.

Powell, vice principal for boys, said this was his opinion. He said that Central High's first year with Negro students turned out to be one of "chaos, bedlam and turmoil from the beginning."

He was the second witness in U. S. District Court hearing today on the Little Rock School Board's petition to put off integration for 24 years, on grounds that the first year proved too turbulent for proper teaching.

Powell told U. S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley, who will decide whether the integration shall be postponed, that there were 43 bomb scares and about 30 nuisance fires during the school term. He said racial incidents occupied most of the time.

The vice principal said "I tried to convince students and parents that you cannot solve the integration problem by pushing colored students down the stairs. We failed miserably."

Teacher Margaret Rehnman, asked if she thought sterner discipline would have averted the tension at Central High, said she did not believe it would.

"I think they (the students) get the tension from the outside," she said.

She said the problem could be solved only by a community effort.

Earlier, Mrs. Elizabeth Huckabee, vice principal for girls, told the court the first year of integration had caused constant concern about violence and the threat of violence.

A packed courtroom of about half white and half Negro spectators was on hand at the opening session.

"Describing the atmosphere of the first three months at Central High, Mrs. Huckabee told the court, 'teachers came to me trembling. Some had observed violence for the first time. Some were weeping.'"

She said, in answer to an attorney's question, that "I have no reason to think there will be any change" next year if integration continues.

The school board, which had supported Supl. Virgil Blossom's plan for gradual integration on the basis that compliance with the Supreme Court integration order was the only legal approach, now contends the year's experience with the plan disrupted the educational process.

Thurgood Marshall, Negro attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People opposing the board's petition, asked that Mrs. Huckabee's testimony be stricken. U. S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley said he would reserve ruling until all testimony was heard.

Marshall asked the vice principal to identify the white ring leaders of racial incidents that marred the school year.

"Sammy Dean Parker was the leader," Mrs. Huckabee answered. Sammy Dean was expelled last year.

Russia Warned to Abide by Agreement

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslavia told the Soviet Union today to live up to its credit agreement or face what amounts to being sued for damages.

The demand was made in a note delivered by Yugoslav Foreign Minister Koca Popovic to Soviet Ambassador Ivan Zaimchevsky.

The Soviet government informed Yugoslavia last Tuesday that 255 million dollars in credits to Yugoslavia have been suspended for five years, an apparent beginning of an economic squeeze because of Yugoslavia's refusal

DeGaulle Turns Attention to Algeria Problem

By GARVEN HUGGINS

PARIS (AP)—Premier Charles de Gaulle, armed with all the broad powers he demanded of Parliament, turned his attention today to Algeria and the army, ruling it in his name.

De Gaulle summoned Gen. Raul Salan, the French troop commander, from Algiers for consultation. Salan has been ruling Algeria openly in the name of the rebellious French there. An escort waiting at the airport whisked him off to see De Gaulle.

After thus asserting his authority over the army, De Gaulle called in Robert Lacoste, resident minister in Algeria who has a big following among the rebellious French colonists there. De Gaulle will go to Algeria Wednesday.

The Senate vote completed action within 48 hours on the three-part emergency program demanded by De Gaulle as his price for taking the helm of France in its hour of crisis.

The country itself slowly returned to something resembling normal after a month of crisis, rioting, tension and fear. The troops were wearing their soft caps instead of riot helmets. Riot guns were slowed away.

Warns Against Idle Talking About France

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department cautioned today against any words or action which might complicate the talks facing the De Gaulle government in France.

A spokesman also told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he believes no French government not under Communist control would try to undermine or halt progress in building up the NATO defenses.

C. Burke Elbrick, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, testified at one of a series of committee hearings on U.S. policies around the world.

Elbrick said it was necessary to give the French crisis a great deal of thought and to follow developments closely but "at the same time, I think Americans would do well to avoid going off the deep end in considering the possible effects of the French situation upon the Western world as a whole."

He said he was convinced of the "profound dedication of the French people and their government to the cause of human freedom."

Wreck Sighted But There Was No Sign of Life

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A Mexican airliner with 43 persons aboard crashed against a mountain peak near Guadalajara Monday night. The wreckage, found today, showed no signs of life.

The plane was a Constellation of the Aerovias de Mexico. It was on a flight from Tlana to the California border, to Mexico City.

Some of the 22 passengers who boarded at Tlana were Americans.

The four-engine craft made a stop at Mexico City at 10:01 p.m. It crashed against San Agustine Peak, 10 miles from Guadalajara.

The last radio contact was with Guadalajara airport at 10:15 p.m. The Guadalajara airport is at 6,000 feet altitude and the peak 7,500.

The wreckage was sighted by search planes carrying officials of the Mexican airline.

It was raining at the time of the crash. Some residents of Guadalajara said they heard an explosion at about the time of the crash.

Guadalajara, Mexico's second city, is 200 miles northwest of Mexico City.

UN Hopeful Trouble May Be Settled

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — U. N. delegates generally seemed hopeful today that French Premier De Gaulle and Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba might clear up the French-Tunisian dispute now before the Security Council. Only the Tunisians showed skepticism.

De Gaulle, installed in office Sunday, messaged Bourguiba that he had the intention of settling with you. If you are in agreement, the present difficulties between our two countries. But an interviewer for the Rome daily "Il Tempo" quoted Bourguiba Monday night as having said, "De Gaulle or no De Gaulle, French troops must leave Tunisia."

The Security Council Monday held an all-day debate on Tunisian and French complaints in which each country blamed the other for recent military action on Tunisian soil. Resumption of the debate was postponed until Wednesday to await developments.

Delegate Mongi Slim asked that it take "all appropriate measures" to assist in the evacuation of the 22,000 French troops still in Tunisia.

French Delegate Guillaume Gerges Picot said the French troops were in Tunisia by treaty.

State Electric Projects Hinge on Congress

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The fate of a couple of Arkansas hydro-electric projects hangs in the balance these days.

They are the proposed Gilbert and Lone Rock dam and reservoir projects in northwestern Arkansas. The two were in the 1 million dollar authorization bill twice vetoed by President Eisenhower. In fact they are among the projects to which he strenuously objected.

Now a compromise bill has been introduced in House and Senate but there still has been NO firm agreement on Gilbert and Lone Rock.

When he vetoed the bill a second time April 15, Eisenhower objected to 30 of the 150 projects in the bill. Under a compromise agreement reached recently, the Administration and Democrats of the Public Works committees the Administration accepted 10 projects and the Democrats agreed to modify 10 in line with Administration views.

But the two sides are still apart on 10 others and among these are Gilbert and Lone Rock.

House Democrats, in an effort to save the projects, provided in their compromise bill that Gilbert and Lone Rock should be authorized for planning - NOT construction. Republicans have indicated they don't like this foot-in-the-door technique and probably will oppose the project.

The showdown will come in the near future in the House Public Works committee. If the committee retains the projects-as it likely will since Democrats control the committee and want to stand behind Rep. James W. Trimble (D-Ark)-changes are they will remain in the final bill sent to the White House.

Whether the President would veto the measure a third time when it contains only a handful of projects he opposes is anyone's guess.

In view of the compromise bill there apparently will be NO effort to override the President's April 15 veto. This comes about because in the Senate, which must act first, Democrats figure they still are three or four votes short of a two-third majority.

The situation will be a bit different in the compromise version. This time the strategy apparently is to pass the House bill. If it is vetoed then the House will act first and Democrats believe they can override in the House.

That would put the matter-and the heat-squaring on the Senate.

The compromise bill also would contain some 57 million dollars of additional authorization for the White River basin program - which means, if the bill is passed and signed, there will be NO hitch on getting appropriations for Greers Ferry, Beaver and Table Rock this year.

As matters now stand appropriations for the White River basin exceed authorizations and there is some question that new appropriations can be put through this year.

However, Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark) said he doubted there would be any hitch even if the authorization bill failed.

While House rules might make it difficult to get the appropriation through that body, Mills said, the rules are different in the Senate and authorizing legislation could be written into the appropriation bill on that side. Once in the bill on the Senate side, such authorization legislation would be there to stay, he said, since it would be next to impossible to eliminate in the House.

All of which might mean that Rep. Trimble may win his fight to get construction funds added for Beaver Dam this year.

Dainty cookies were served from the dining table by Mrs. Ed Percell, mother of the bride-elect, who was wearing a corsage of pink carnations, a gift from the hostess, Mrs. Harold Duke, mother of the groom-elect was also presented with a pink carnation corsage.

CHAPTER 26

I said to Felipe: "My chief reason for breaking in here is to find out how de la Garra died. The ones who will know are the prisoners in the cell block where he was kept. But they are not apt to talk to a stranger, even one who can break into the prison. Do you know anyone in that wing of the prison?"

"I do not," Felipe said. "Perhaps Rafael," suggested the cellmate.

"Who is Rafael?" I asked. Some time in the other wing. He began to pound on the wall of the cell with his shoe. He was using the Morse code, asking someone in the next cell to pass the question along to Rafael.

We waited and after a few minutes the answer came back. He did know someone. Pablo Vallejo had been on the third floor for two years and would be for another three.

"Ask him," I said, "if he will give me a note to this man."

"There are no papers and pencils in here," Felipe said. "I have paper and a pencil."

The tapping began again, a longer message this time, telling him who I was and what I wanted. We waited again and then the answer came. Yes.

"It is the fifth cell from here," Felipe said.

I opened the cell door and looked out. There were no guards in sight. I stopped outside and closed the door. "I'd better look you in again, so there will be no suspicion," I said.

It took only a minute to lock the door and then I walked down to the fifth cell. I stopped in front of it, close to the door. "Rafael?"

"Si," a voice answered from the dark cell. "You have the paper and pencil?"

I took them from my pocket and passed them through. A hand appeared to take them. A moment later a match was lit and in its flickering light I saw a thin little man bent over the paper on the floor laboriously writing.

When that match flickered out, another was lighted. A few seconds later, it was blown out and the paper and pencil were handed back to me.

"Thank you," the voice said. I started back along the corridor. By this time everyone along one side of the cell block knew who I was and why I was there. As I passed each cell there came a whisper. "Good luck."

I went down the stairs carefully. When I reached the bottom, I stood at the corner and checked the other corridor. There was no one in sight. I went down the corridor, stopping to look at each door. Finally I found the one I was looking for. Lettered on it was the word: Carcelero-Warden.

I tried the door. It was locked. I brought out my thin slivers of steel and went to work. This was a simpler lock and it gave within a couple of minutes. I stepped inside and closed the door.

I had no idea where to look for what I wanted, so I began with the banks of filing cabinets, looking only at the headings on each folder. An hour later I had finally worked my way around to the big desk without finding anything. Then I found it. In one of the drawers of the desk. A thick, round folder. On the front was the simple legend: Sepulchras.

Ike Prepares for MacMillan Visit to U. S.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called the National Security Council today for a session which could involve policy preparations for British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's visit here next week.

The French political crisis and possible suspension of U. S. and British nuclear tests are prime topics for the Eisenhower-Macmillan talks, which start next Monday.

The Security Council, the nation's top policy body, normally meets Thursdays. The White House gave no reason for changing the time of its meeting, but there was speculation that its work would be directed toward the Macmillan meeting.

Eisenhower reportedly is being urged by some of his advisers to make at least a tentative decision, before Macmillan's arrival, favoring a two-year suspension of U. S. nuclear tests to be effective after the present series in the Pacific is ended.

Both Secretary of State Dulles and Dr. James B. Connelley Jr., Eisenhower's scientific adviser, have recommended such a course.

On the other hand, Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission has argued for continued testing unless there is broad agreement with the Soviet Union on a disarmament program.

Eisenhower approved in an hour long conference with Dulles a new letter to Soviet Premier Khrushchev. In it he agreed to inclusion of Polish and Czech scientists in proposed scientific talks on ways of supervising any East-West agreement to halt tests. There is no such agreement yet.

The letter probably will be dispatched into this week after clearance with Britain and France and other NATO allies.

Dulles gave the upshot on the President's answer by saying, "We have no objection to the Soviet Union including on its side experts of other nationalities provided the people are qualified, as I assume they will be. The task is technical, not political."

Giants, Braves Tangle in a Crucial Series

By ALAN CLINE
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco's run-happy Giants, home from a long, successful journey, welcome challenging Milwaukee to the West Coast tonight in a battle for the National League's top spot.

The Braves' three game series, first of a 13-game Giant home stand, couldn't have come at a better time.

The Giants, strong in hitting but weak in the throwing department, have a skinny .12 percentage point lead over the world champs. Ruben Gomez, fiery Puerto Rican right-hander with a .53 record, will try to increase it. Lew Burdette, three-time World Series winner and now 4.5, attempts to stop him.

Manager Bill Mauer said today some changes in his second line pitching probably would be made before the Giants depart again on June 17.

They satisfied with the front line pitching—Gomez, Johnny Antonelli, Roy Brown, Mauer and Mike McCormick. Brown said, "But it's a damn crime to get as many as nine runs and then get beat."

The Braves are temporarily plagued by injuries with second baseman Red Schoendienst, bothered by a bad back, first baseman Frank Torre by a sore shoulder and leftfielder Wes Covington by a bloody left knee.

The Giants have their ailments, too. Bisher and Willie Mays, currently batting .407, has fully recovered from a pulled muscle but rookie third baseman Jim Davenport still is bothered by a rib injury that drenched him for five games.

Rickey's 40-year-old reliever, Marv Grissom, wrenched his back and Rickey said he's throwing again "but just doesn't feel 100 percent." Orlando Cepeda, the Giants' prize rookie first baseman, was slowed by a leg injury but his manager said he looked fully recovered.

L. A. Goes to Polls to Vote on Dodger Home

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The folks in Los Angeles went to the polls today to decide whether the City Council made a fair deal with Dodger owner Walter O'Malley. If yes, things look good for O'Malley in his pursuit of a legitimate ball yard in the Chavez Ravine. If no, then the Dodgers don't have land for a park and National League President Warren Giles has to decide whether to go through with his threat to hoist the Dodgers out of Los Angeles.

Meanwhile, back at the pennant race, the Dodgers were far back. Ten games to be exact, but they got a big boost in morale—and ballot box hopes—when some 7,500 fans showed up to welcome them back from an 8-9 swing through the East.

Tonight in Los Angeles, the Cincinnati Redlegs make their first appearance in the Coliseum. At San Francisco, the first place Giants put their one-game lead on the line in the first West Coast appearance of the season by the world champion Milwaukee Braves.

Only one game was scheduled in the NL Monday, and the Redlegs took it 8-2 from Pittsburgh. In the American League, the New York Yankees took a seven-game lead on Whitey Ford's 3-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox, and Washington beat Baltimore 2-1 in 10 innings in the only games scheduled.

Joe Nuxhall was practically the whole show for the Redlegs as they slipped past the Chicago Cubs into fourth place. The 29-year-old lefty blanked the Pirates on four hits until the ninth, struck out eight, walked none and drove in two runs, scored two with three hits and a fly ball.

Don Hoak homered, Johnny Temple tripled and Steve Bilko and Nuxhall doubled in the Redlegs' 10-hit attack against starter, loser R. G. Smith and a pair of relievers. Nuxhall, now 2-2, lost his shutout bid with two out in the ninth when Frank Thomas swatted his second double, scoring Bob Skinner and Ted Kluszewski, who had singled, Smith is 0-2.

A 2-1 decision, that dropped Harshman's record to 5-4 and plunked the Orioles back into the cellar while the Senators tied idle Detroit for sixth.

A southpaw with a streak also figured in the only other American League game scheduled Monday night, with Whitey Ford tying an AL record with six consecutive strikeouts while winning his fifth straight and his first shutout in two years as the New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-0.

It was the third straight success for the Yanks, upping their lead to seven games over Kansas City, while dumping the Sox to fourth and extending their scoreless inning string to 22.

Cincinnati whipped Pittsburgh 8-2 in the only National League game scheduled.

Roy Sievers, cracking Goose Goslin's all-time Washington home run record of 127 tagged Harshman for his eighth homer of the season in the fourth.

Harshman gave up seven hits and walked three while striking out 10, matching New York's Bob Turley for the AL strikeout lead with 3.

Three home runs, two by Hank Bauer and the other by Mickey Mantle, gave Ford all the edge he needed while winning his fourth in a row from the White Sox since last July. Whitey gave up seven hits, walked four and struck out 10 for a 6-2 record with his first shutout since May 28, 1956.
